POLICE FIND STOLEN EGGS

For several weeks farmers at Stratham have been the victims of vegetable and egg thieves and though they guarded against the same their stock continued to disappear.

Today J. T. Robie and A. H. Marsh reported to the local police that two cases of eggs valued at $28 were taken during the night from a store house at the Marsh farm. They had an idea that the stealing was done by peddlers and after giving a good description of the cases started out with patrolman Shannos on the egg hunt.

They succeeded in finding one case at the Olympia Cafe on Daniel street where the proprietor was questioned as to how he came in possession of the stolen property. He stated that he purchased the lot from a local peddler by the name of Chris Lewis but knew nothing about the stolen eggs. He purchased but one case. Later the second case was found in another eating house on Vaughan street next to the Langdon Hotel. About a dozen of the lot had been taken out.

The proprietor stated he also purchased the eggs from Lewis. Later the police placed Lewis under arrest and will charge him with breaking and entering and larceny. The case will be heard in municipal court on Friday.

The Piper farm and others report the loss of vegetables which they believe has been stolen by some of the peddlers who do business in that section.

Drastic Amendment to Selective Service Regulation Goes Into Effect July 1st-- All of Draft Age in Non-Useful Occu- pation Will Be Given Choice of Finding New Job or the Army

PORTSMOUTH BOY LEAVES BIG JOB FOR WAR

Harry Gardner a former Portsmouth boy and a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gardner, arrived here today having motored from Huntington, W. Va., to this city to answer the call to go to Ft. Slocum in the draft. He is the manager of a large coal mine and could be exempted if he made claim but he preferred to go. In fact, he notified the local board some time ago that he was ready. He has an interest in the mine besides being the general manager.

SLACKERS WILL BE PROSECUTED

Washington, May 23.—Slackers who leave the country to escape the draft will be prosecuted under the selective service act on their return, Attorney General Gregory announced today.

EXTRA JURORS DRAWN

Thomas Wesley Ham of ward two and Frank Churchill of ward four were drawn as extra jurors on Wednesday night for the May term of superior court at Exeter.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 23.—Every man of draft age must work or fight after July 1st under a drastic amendment to the selective service regulations announced today by Provost Marshal General Crowder. Not only idlers but all draft registrants engaged in what are held to be non-useful occupations are to be taken before local boards and given the choice of a new job or the army.

Gambler, race track and bucket shop attendants and fortune tellers head the list, but those who will be reached by the new regulations also include waiters, bartenders, theatre ushers and attendants, passenger elevator operators and other attendants of clubs, hotels, stores, etc., domestics and clerks in stores.

Deferred classification granted on account of dependants will be disregarded entirely in applying the rule. A man may be at the bottom of class 1 or even in class 4, but if he falls within the regulation and refuses to take useful employment, he will be given a new number in class 1 that will send him into the military service forthwith.

Local boards are authorized to use discretion only where they find that enforced change of employment would result in disproportionate hardship upon a man's dependants.

Both the military officials and Department of Labor officials believe this plan will go a long way toward solving the labor problem for farmers, shipbuilders and munition makers, and will end for the present at least, talk of the conscription of labor. The announcement today gives notice that the list of non-useful occupations will be extended from time to time as necessity requires.

Professional baseball players, as well as jockeys, professional golfers and other professional sportsmen, General Crowder said today, will be affected by the new regulations if strictly enforced. He said that he did not desire to make specific rulings at this time and would make rulings on ly when cases came to him from local boards after July 1st.

Theatrical performers were excepted from the regulations at the direction of Secretary Baker who is said to feel that the people cannot do without all amusement in war time, and that other amusements could be dispensed with more readily.

HUN AIRMEN BOMB FIELD HOSPITALS

(By Associated Press)

With the British Army in France, May 23.—German airmen again have bombed heavily British hospitals in the area behind the lines and this time have killed and wounded some hundreds among the personnel and patients of many different hospitals in the group.

Reported in the casualty list are the names of several sisters who with other women nurses stood bravely by their posts throughout a terrific deluge of explosives.

There is in the neighborhood one large American hospital, and another in which there are American workers, but neither of these appear to have suffered.

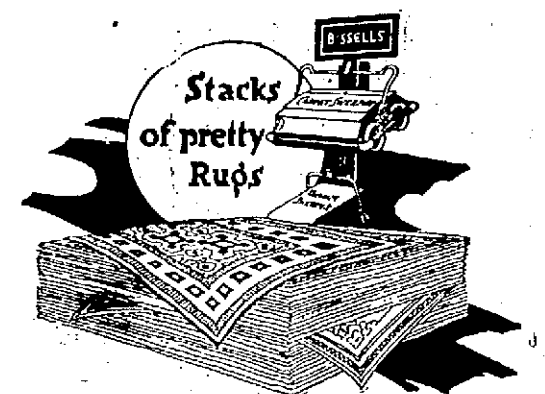

The latest horror was perpetrated on Sunday night apparently by four squadrons of enemy planes which appear to have comprised more than a score of machines. A great number of bombs were dropped, about thirty percent of them huge affairs which dug vast craters in the hospital grounds, and the rest, high explosive shrapnel which sent their death-dealing bullets tearing in every direction through the crowded hospital tents and buildings.

A three-seated airplane was brought down by gun fire while flying at low altitude and the occupants were made prisoners. When questioned why he had directed his men against hospitals the captain said he didn't see the Red Cross sign. He added that if the British choose to build their hospitals near railways they must expect to get them bombed.

The Herald answers hundreds of questions every day about this city and vicinity.

NAVAL MEASURE PASSED BY THE SENATE

Washington, May 23.—In record-breaking time of four hours the senate today passed without a roll call the naval appropriation bill, carrying $1,610,000,000. The measure, increased about $226,000,000 over the house authorization, now goes to conference.

Permanent increase of the enlisted strength of the navy from 87,000 to 131,000 men and the temporary increase to 151,000 men was approved without objection by the senate.

The senate approved an appropriation of $105,000,000 for new batteries for war ships, an increase from $48,300,000 as made by the house and increased the appropriation for ammunition from $73,000,000, as recommended by the senate naval committee, to $151,000,000.

Additional estimates of $1,500,000, 600 for ordnance, ordnance stores and ordnance supplies during the next fiscal year were submitted to the house today by Secretary Baker, together with a request for authorization of $2,155,562,466 more to be spent at the war department's discretion for ordnance.

Much of the debate was over prohibitions against "stop watch" or other time studies in plants doing navy work and against bonuses for employees' suggestions for improvements or economy in operating government plants. Both were retained.

"Only political reasons causes senators to vote for the provision preventing time studies of any job," declared Senator Thomas of Colorado, Democrat, after Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, minority leader, had moved that the provision be stricken out.

GERMANS FEAR ALLIED AIR RAIDS

With the French Air Corps in France, May 23.—By the Associated Press.—Germans captured by the French today to the brilliant work of the English Allied aviators who, the prisoners say, leave the Germans in peace. Peers are expressed regarding future operations by Allied airmen on the Rhine cities, which they believe will be laid in ruins. The Germans declare their anti-aircraft defenses are insufficient to prevent the Allies visiting either day or night the Teuton camps, cantonments, depots and airbases where, they say, enormous damage already has been done.

ENGLISH RELIEF WORKERS SAFE

(By Associated Press)

Tokio, May 23.—Including the last British war relief workers to leave Russia, the Anglo-Russian Field Hospital unit, with Lady Muriel Paget at its head, a party of 45 British subjects, war workers, consular officials and civilians, have arrived in Tokyo and Yokohama on their way home.

Lady Muriel Paget is the representative of the London Committee of the Anglo-Russian Hospital unit, which is maintained by subscriptions from British colonies. It is one of the organizations which answered the call of the Russian Red Cross in 1915 and after two years of active work from Archangel south, into Galicia and Rumania, ended up at Odessa where the party waited two months hoping to establish a hospital for some nation which would fight the Germans.

"We remained in Russia as long as our unit could render aid," said Lady Paget. "However, when peace was declared with Germany, when the fighting stopped and our supplies were cut off, there was nothing to do but leave." Lady Paget went to Russia as the representative of the Committee in 1915 to replace Lady Sybil Grey, daughter of Sir Edward Grey, who had been wounded.

During the winter of 1916 the hospital workers went south into Galicia and spent the winter months in the Carpathians, near Kribaba. At the time of the final Russian offensive the unit was told to take part, but the drive ended too soon, and the unit went to Kamenetz Podolsk, the capital of the government of Podolia, where it was the only Red Cross hospital in the city, and where under great difficulty its work of relief was carried out.

In ten days 10,000 wounded from the retreat from Galicia were cared for. The Red Cross contingent then went into Rumania, to Dorchoel. The work to be done with the armies decreased and at the same time it became impossible to obtain men and supplies from England.

As far as America is concerned, future sympathy for Ireland must be predicated on Irish participation in the great war—and participation on the Allied side. If the Irish will not march with us now, neither now nor for long hereafter is there any reason to believe that the real prevalence and the real claims of the Irish will bring a hearing in this country. We do not understand and we cannot understand why when the German is looted in the world and in the Irish will fight him, whatever his private wrongs or radical grievances. When this war is over the voice of America will be heard in Europe and listened to in England, and with it may be joined the voices of the British Colonies. But all will be silent so far as Ireland is concerned if at Armageddon Ireland stands with the German or fails to stand against him.

There are fifty-five of the largest number yet to be sent at one time and their friends propose to go that the men go away with a good send off. They will report to the war board on Friday afternoon and leave at 8:15 Saturday.

Portsmouth, N. H., Thursday, May 23, 1918.

No Cause for Pessimism.

In a communication to a New England newspaper a writer who appears to be suffering from a touch of pessimism paints the farming outlook for the year in rather gloomy colors. He says the high prices of seeds and fertilizers, with the scarcity of help and the high wages demanded, will lead to a great deal of "one-man" farming; that is, many farmers will refuse to hire, will produce what they can by their own labor and that of their families and let it go at that. He speaks of the wages paid in the shops and factories being such as to draw most of the labor from the farms, compelling tobacco farmers in the Connecticut valley to pay good men $100 a month and board, while in some parts of Massachusetts farm hands are being paid from $3.50 to $4 a day of eight hours.

If these figures are correct, and are the rule instead of the exception, they are certainly staggering and will prevent many farmers from having the help they need. The average farmer cannot pay such wages and live, even with produce commanding the present high prices.

The writer also contends that the farmers are timid because they did not do as well as they expected to last year. There may have been instances in which farmers did not do well last year, but in view of the food prices that have prevailed the business as a whole must have been far from a failure. It is true that the farmer does not, in the majority of cases, receive all the consumer has to pay, and in some instances it is doubtless true that he does not receive as large a proportion of the retail price as he should; nevertheless the prices received by the farmers last year were very substantial and the outlook for the year ahead is by no means so discouraging as this writer would have us believe. It is certain that there will be a sharp demand for every pound of food stuffs that can be produced, and when there is a lively demand for any article the price is bound to be satisfactory.

For these reasons the farmers of the country will not fail to do the best they can under the circumstances. Labor is scarce and some of it is unsatisfactory, but a farmer and his family, with such improved implements and machinery as are available, can do a lot without a "hired man," and will not fail to bear in mind that as the lack of help lessens production the prices of produce will be correspondingly higher.

This is no time for pessimism on the farm. The country and the world must be fed, and those who do the feeding will not go unrewarded. It remains for every tiller of the soil to do his best under the conditions that exist. If all will do this there need be no fear as to the results, and the pessimists will have reason to be ashamed of their cowardly fears.

June 5 is the date set for the registration of all young men who have reached the age of 21 in the last year. And this registration will add a vast number of available men to the draft lists. The Kaiser may as well understand first as last that America is not going to be so "negligible" in this war as he thought it was.

Georgia is yet far from having shaken off the lynching habit. Four negroes have been "strung up" in that state by mobs within the last few days. Now watch out and see what is done by the "grand juries!" And yet the disturbing fact remains that lynching is not confined entirely to the South.

The Audubon Club of the Farragut school has found out that there are few better ways for spending a pleasant summer day than biking through the fields and woods and studying bird life. It would be well if more people understood the pleasures and benefits of such a practice.

At the coming exposition of food and other substitutes in Vienna there will be exhibited among other things a substitute for tobacco. But American cigar smokers will realize that the Germans and Austrians are not alone in knowing how to find substitutes for tobacco.

It is a sizable task that Portsmouth is called upon to perform this week. It is asked to raise $20,000 for the Red Cross, and if the way the city has risen to past calls is any criterion by which to judge, it will do it without a whimper.

Von Hertling thinks coming developments on the western front will bring peace nearer. They probably will, but not the kind of peace that Germany is looking for.

May has been more June-like than usual. The spring has done what it could to atone for the winter that preceded it.

And, with everything else, taxes are to be higher this year. It beats all how everything is going up.

NOTES FROM THE NEWINGTON SHIP PLANT

General Manager Hewins and his men propose to answer the call of the shipping board to launch one or more ships on July 4th. Now all together for victory.

Chief of police D. L. Pinkham has a most efficient and painstaking squad of men both night and day and they are kept on the move every minute.

If anyone knows of a cottage nearby, vacant, let him offer it to the men at the plant.

There were just 1920 men employed at the plant on Wednesday.

If there are any men who do not find that their time is entirely occupied, it is their duty to speak to the boss. There is enough for all hands to do every minute.

The completion of the Dover Point bridge is a great war emergency and it is up to someone to see that some means be devised to complete this job quickly.

REMEMBERED BY THEIR FRIENDS

Three Local Draftees Soon to Leave For Camp, Are Given Service Kits.

Three local draftees who are to leave this week for the training camp, were remembered by their friends and business associates with the presentation of service kits, and other gifts.

Henry Wallingford, of Kittery, who for the past nine years has been employed as a machinist at the Boston & Maine round house, who is to shortly join the National Army, was presented by the men at the round house with a service kit, wrist watch, money belt and safety razor. This presentation speech was made by Foreman William J. Shattellworth, and Mr. Wallingford made a fitting response.

Attorney Joseph D. Sullivan, who is to leave with the draftees for Camp Devens, this week, was recently tendered a farewell party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kilroe, 21 Cass street, where he has resided since coming to this city from Sumnerworth by twenty or more of his friends. During the evening Dr. Harry J. Cronin in behalf of the assembly presented Mr. Sullivan with a fine service kit and safety razor. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly passed with music and games. Light refreshments were served.

Harold Little, a popular employee of the Morley Button Company, who is to leave here with the draftees for Camp Devens, was given a pleasant surprise. Mr. Little was called from his work to another room where he found a number of the employees assembled. Before he could recover from his surprise Alfred M. Burton in behalf of those assembled presented Mr. Little with a costly comfort kit. Mr. Little thanked the donors for their kindly remembrance.

Quick Work by Contractors on Bridge Over the Piscataqua.

This morning the new highway draw on the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge was opened for travel and its installation is a bit of quick work on the part of the contractors, Miller Brothers of Boston.

BIG ADDITION TO MILL AT NEWMARKET

Celebration in Observance of Opening to Be Held Saturday Evening, May 25.

The big weaving room addition to the mill of the Newmarket Manufacturing Company in that town has been completed and a big celebration in observance of the event will be held Saturday evening, May 25th.

This weaving room covers four acres of floor space, and is said to be the largest under one roof in the country. Some idea of its magnitude will be gained when twenty-four houses occupying the site had to be moved away and eight others torn down. These have been replaced by better and modern dwellings for the employees of the concern.

The mill addition is up to date in every respect. There are comfortable rest rooms both for men and women employees, sanitary lavatories, wash-rooms and drinking fountains.

On Saturday evening the celebration will start at 7 p.m. The program will consist of a band concert from 7 to 8:30 p.m. by the Newmarket Band of 33 pieces, vocal selections by a quartet and addresses by prominent citizens, after which dancing will be enjoyed.

The affair is open to the public and General Agent Gallant wishes to extend through the Herald a cordial invitation to all soldier and sailor boys in this city to attend, assuring them of a fine time. There will be refreshments and the boys of the army and navy will be treated royally.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Collier in Collision

With stern cut away in collision with the naval collier Jupiter, the Boston schooner Horatio G. Foss has reached Delaware Breakwater. The vessel would have gone to the bottom had she not been in light trim. The Foss is owned by Crowell & Thurlow.

Praise Admiral Wood

Rear Admiral Spencer S. Wood, commanding this naval district, yesterday received from Sec. Daniels and Asst. Sec. Roosevelt of the Navy Department a letter complimenting him on his decisions regarding baseball, basketball, and football. Naval bands competing with civilian musicians, etc., all of which have been officially adopted for the government of Naval men at all stations.

The letter stated specifically that baseball men and bandmen, no matter how well known and proficient, must take their regular order in going to sea.

Yeowomen Must Mend Ways.

Yeowomen must pay stricter attention to business, if they wish to escape official censure. In an order issued today by Rear Admiral Wood, commanding the district, the young women clerks were warned that there must be no more "sitting on desks, loud talking, reading newspapers and idle conversation."

No U-Boats Off Coast

There are no German submarines now off the coast says Rear Admiral Wood, but it would not be surprising if one did put in an appearance. Whether or not it got home would be another matter.

He would favor refusing gasoline and oil supplies to private yachts and boats, to conserve the supply for essential ships.

On Inspection Tour

Capt. Davis Todd, supervisor of cable censorship and inspector of all communication in the navy, is in Boston on a brief tour of inspection. He visited the wireless station at the Naval Hospital in Chelsea yesterday and thoroughly inspected it. He was pleased with what he found. Today it is expected that he will visit the radio school and inspect the facilities there.

He was particularly impressed with the appearance presented by the yeowomen. In Washington the women yeowomen do not wear uniforms. The daily appearance of the girls in Rear Admiral Wood's command impressed him considerably.

HELD SEWING BEE.

Storer Hotel Corps, No. 6, held a sewing bee yesterday at the home of the president, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Ballin, on Hill street and plans were also perfected for a sale in June. In the evening the regular meeting of the order was held in G. A. R. hall and all the work for Memorial day was arranged. Mrs. Ballou appointed a committee for visiting schools. The members of the Corps were asked to unite in the Memorial services at St. John's church with Storer Post No. 1, G. A. R., and Sons of Veterans on Sunday morning, May 26, at 10:30 a.m. By invitation of Rev. Mr. Flegg of the Congregational church at Rye all are invited to attend services on the morning of Sunday, June 2, at Rye.

CITY FAR BEHIND QUOTA

Red Cross Drive Has Got to Show more
Results to Get Over the Top-- Ladies
Have Done Fine Work

Portsmouth is far from going over the top on the Red Cross War Fund drive and unless there is a more generous spirit shown by the merchants and those who can well afford to give, the city will fall down and fall down badly on its quota.

The thermometer of Market Square on Wednesday registered but $4,000 which was up to Tuesday evening, and of this $2,000 was collected by the women about the city, and they are still working and making good.

The collection about the business sections are not very good, people are giving but far below what they should give.

The Navy Yard have their drive well under way and the men in charge over there are making every effort, but they are finding that many of the men have already been "reached" in their towns, and out of the total collection a good part will go to "other towns," so that the yard cannot be depended upon to swell the Portsmouth quota as much as usual.

At the ship yards there is a big hustle to get every man a subscriber and they expect to make a good showing.

In spite of the fact that the total is creeping up slowly, there are many generous contributions and beginning today a list will be published of all who contribute $5.00 and over. This list will be couched every day during the drive, so that the general public may know who are doing their share in this great work.

It is simply a case of everybody doing their best and keeping hustling until the city takes its rightful place well in advance of any in the state in proportion to its quota. In other parts of the state the common saying is that Portsmouth is benefiting more from the war than any other city in the state and it should "make a better showing." This is possibly true and it should be borne in mind that the citizens are maintaining their same generous spirit that they have always maintained toward war measures.

There has been a shortage of Red Cross buttons and Wednesday, Secretary Baker of the Chamber of Commerce, went into the Red Cross headquarters Boston, and secured all they had which is some thousands short of what is actually wanted here, more are promised the latter part of the week.

A meeting of the team captains and workers will be held at three o'clock this afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce to go over the situation.

Those in the residential section of the city who have not made their donation or who were put upon the collector, called, may have a collector call by telephoning Mrs. W. P. Miskell or Miss Helen Walker or Miss Bertha Bennett.

ASSISTING IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Local Salvation Army Is Collecting Funds on the Street for the Work.

The Salvation Army is assisting in the local Red Cross drive by collecting funds on the street, this organization assisting in this way in the last drive in New York with much success.

Captain Lawrence, who is in charge of the collection, has been out on the postoffice, one on Market Square near the National Mechanics and Traders Bank, and one on Market Street. Now these kettles pick up considerable small change which the teams working for the Red Cross would not get, for money placed here is not supposed to be regular collections but something given over that.

People coming out from the postoffice or stores with small change in their hands can put a little, at least, in one of these kettles before phasing change in their purse, and larger sums, of course, are always acceptable. It is hoped there is not a man or woman in this city who will not give something, at least, toward saving a life in this awful year, and to help the Red Cross means to help save lives.

Yesterday $10.21 was collected in the kettles around town and they will be kept until the remainder of the week. The money collected goes entirely to the Red Cross and it is hoped a good amount may be collected in this way.

Mrs. Lawrence, wife of Captain Lawrence of the Salvation Army, gave a lecture at Rye last evening on the "Salvation Army in the World War." The proceeds of the lecture were given to the Red Cross organization of Rye.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The local union met with Mrs. Weaver Wednesday. The meeting was well attended and much work accomplished. Literature is being distributed to our boys abroad and at home.

The latest helpful device for the boys at the front is the field kitchen, a motor vehicle to be located as near the front as possible from which hot coffee, cocoa, soup and other nourishing foods will be served to the boys as they come from the firing lines. The National W. C. T. U. is to furnish seven of the field kitchens at a cost of $700 each. New Hampshire will do her share and also for the White Ribbon Home at Camp Devens.

MAKE WORK EASIER

It's pretty hard to attend to duties with a constantly aching back. With annoying urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills have made work easier.

So thousands have gratefully testified.

They're for back aches. They're for weak kidneys. Portsmouth people gratefully recommend Doan's.

H. S. Spinnery, 41 Pickering Street, Portsmouth, says: "On account of the heavy work I do, my back has occasionally given me trouble. Dull, grinding pains took me across my back and bore me down like a great weight. At times, it was hard for me to work, as I had to bend and lift continually. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and this medicine has never failed to put my back in good shape. I always keep Doan's on hand in case of necessity; they have been a family remedy with us for fifteen years."

PRELIMINARY TRAINING AT LOCAL ARMORY

With the prospect of a war of indefinite duration and the immediate necessity of sending large armies to the front, the early training of our infantry is all-important.

The training of the soldier of today is the development of all physical and mental faculties and the mastery of thirty or more various subjects in the minimum period of time. To accomplish this there must be an application of method and system that will comprehensively explain the texts.

Modern methods of warfare and the limited time available render it absolutely necessary to carefully outline the work of instruction. The outline must be of sufficient scope to include all the minor details in their proper place, and allot the proper amount of time to each subject; thus it will be seen that all who desire the instruction must enroll at the commencement of the course; otherwise the instruction would be duplicated and inefficient.

All men between the ages of eighteen and thirty inclusive, not exempted from military service, are eligible to receive instruction on military subjects on an evening each week, commencing Friday, May 24th, at the armory. All eligibles who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity are requested to present themselves at the armory on the above date, not later than 5:30 p. m. as the registration closes at that time and no more pupils will be accepted for one year thereafter.

K. C. DEFEATED P. A. C. 2 TO 0

If the Sunset league maintains the quality base ball that has been presented in the first two games of the schedule, the fans this year are in for some royal sport.

The game last evening between the P. A. C. and the Knights of Columbus, was real big league stuff. The Knights winning by a score of 2 to 0. It was not a good night for base ball there being a disagreeable gale wind and it was cold, but this apparently had no bad effect upon the quality base ball.

The Knights have only one or two of their old line up but now have some fast young fellows, and they look like real contenders for the championship.

There will not be a game this evening but Friday evening the new Atlantic team is to play and rumor has it that this aggregation is going to spring a surprise on the fans. The New York has not perfected his line up as yet but he has some good material and some players of reputation, so that their opening game will be watched with interest.

There is always something exciting in baseball when the P. A. C. and the Knights of Columbus meet. Last evening Captain O'Brien of the Knights of Columbus gave the fans some surprise. Driscoll gave one of the best exhibitions of touring that has been seen on the grounds for some time, holding the giants down to two hits. He fanned the first six men that faced him, and Charlie Brackett and "Spike" Jordan were the only men to find him safely. Bill Woods put his men go down to defeat not because of any inability to play ball, but because Captain O'Brien's men played better. The couple of costly errors and Jordan's inability to put them over in the first and second innings tells the story of defeat.

The season will see more intense rivalry between these two teams. A careful examination of the Knights of Columbus lineup shows a very speedy aggregation, and they will give the Sunset League a close shave before the season is over.

After summing up the game, the victory was won as a result of costly overthrows. Hughes made both runs for the Knights of Columbus.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

"HIGH AND DRY."

New Comedy to Be Presented at Ye Wilbur Theatre, Boston, Next Week, Beginning Monday, May 27.

A typical American comedy, abundant in romances and humor, and combining with the patriotic spirit reflected from a young woman's heroic fight against political and social corruption, is the basis of "High and Dry," by Lewis B. Hays, which will be seen at Ye Wilbur Theatre, Boston, next week, beginning Monday, May 27.

"High and Dry" is a most unusual type of drama. From one point of view it might be compared with the national comedies for which the late Charles Hoyt was celebrated. Fly, like Hoyt, satirizes the prohibition movement as it is handled by unscrupulous politicians. His heroine is a young woman reporter who takes up the cudgels against a corrupt Congressman in Missouri and, after a series of exciting experiences, that test her courage and integrity—and incidentally win for her the sympathy of the public—succeeds in forcing him into retirement. And to prove her true femininity, she wins the love of a Missouri editor who for years has been one of the Congressmen's tools.

In its vivid pictures of Middle Western life "High and Dry" bears favorable comparison with many comedy successes of recent years, more especially in its faithful presentation of humorous phases of Missouri political and newspaper life. The author was formerly a St. Louis newspaper writer and his pictures of picturesque everyday existence in what he calls Champ Clark County are racy and intensely refreshing.

The production given the play by W. P. Ger and J. M. Welch will, it is promised, deal worthily with both the dramatic and humorous features of this graphic, snappy picture of present-day life in one of the great Middle West commonwealths. The capable company includes Edna Baker, Frank Sheridan, William B. Muck, Esther Howard, Viola Harper, Adeline O'Connor, William T. Clarke and other well-known players. Lawrence Marston has staged this new romantic comedy.

CLEOPATRA A WONDERFUL PRODUCTION

One of the largest audiences of the year was present at the Colonial Theatre, on Wednesday evening to witness the wonderful production of "Cleopatra" without any exception the most elaborate production seen in this city since "The Birth of a Nation."

So great was the success of the production that an effort was made to have it extended to Friday evening, but owing to the fact that it is booked far ahead it was impossible to secure an extra performance.

It is undoubtedly one of William Fox greatest productions, with more elaborate settings and more people engaged than any picture seen here and after seeing the film one is even inclined to believe the press agents estimate of the cost and the number of people engaged.

Thea Marc is featured as Cleopatra and she is surrounded by an exceptional fine cast, every character being very strong, especially in the leading roles. The wonderful battle of the war galleys, the movement of the army and the banquet scene were very fine and showed remarkable organization and only secured after long and faithful training. The details were all historically correct, costumes, settings and material facts of the film.

A large orchestra added materially to the pleasure of the performance and it is expected that there will be large audiences this afternoon and evening.

"GOOD TEETH" mean teeth that will do their proper share in FOOD CONSERVATION.

Food has greater nourishing and upbuilding value when it is well chewed. Persons with bad teeth do not get the full food value out of what they eat. Therefore they always feel hungry and generally eat more than other well nourished people who have good teeth.

RED CROSS RELIEF WORK IN FRANCE

Washington, May 22.—How the Red Cross relief organization in France met the crisis thrust upon it by the recent great German offensive, when its lines were driven back together with those of the French and British armies, is one of the inspiring stories of that greatest of world's battles. Caught suddenly on the edge of the vast conflict and in danger of being overwhelmed by the great number of refugees and wounded soldiers fleeing before the German onrush, the Red Cross relief army, too, was compelled to fall back and, while maintaining its organization and preserving its supplies, had to give every possible aid to the refugees and soldiers.

A narrative of how this was achieved and how the new Red Cross lines in the rear were organized even while the relief work was in progress has been received from Paris at the Red Cross headquarters here.

"As soon as the drive started," reads the story, "Major Perkins, head of the American Red Cross, called some allies together and made his plans. Of course the first problem was to assure the safety of all the workers in the field and that incidentally has been assured. But it was not just a question of rushing back to safety. No such simple ignominious plan occurred for an instant the thoughts of any full worker. They were to re-fire in good order and work every second for the refugees and the soldiers. New England Fuel Administrator URGES COAL FIRE BE ABANDONED

He says that a ton of coal turned into gas by the gas company has greater fuel value than a ton and a half burned in the kitchen range. We have always told you this. Now why do you keep on using coal when it is so scarce and you can get a better fuel by using gas?

material were to be rushed forward from Paris.

"Just as the German drive tested the resources of the allies, so, indirectly, it tested every relief organization. It was necessary to connect the relief work under a field general, to keep the transportation lines between all the various stations of the Red Cross in the field connected, to work on a big plan so that the work instead of decreasing could grow.

"If you will take a map showing the present territory affected by the great battle you can follow the plan of withdrawal which Major Perkins and his staff worked out. The Red Cross workers who were nearest the battle when it broke were those in Ham and at Croix-Molignaux, north-east of Ham. For Ham, Croix-Molignaux, Nesle and Guecourt, where there were construction warehouses and staffs and medical relief workers, including a small hospital for babies, they drew back on Roye. And on Sunday an organized Red Cross line was formed which stretched from Amiens to Montdidier, Lensigny, Noyons and Soissons.

"The next withdrawal was to the present line where a perfected chain of stations to help refugees has been developed. From Beauvais on the west it passes through Clermont, Compiègne and Soissons.

"Compiègne is where field headquarters have been established. As the most advanced Red Cross workers withdrew from their posts, reinforcements were sent from the rear. When the first reconnoitering party arrived there, they found that there was work to do helping the refugees with whom the roads were crowded. Back they dashed to Paris to give the word. And back again to Compiègne with orders and supplies. But the refugees were no longer alone in the roads. There were soldiers also. Though the first plan had been to help the refugees at this point, the assistance was also turned over to the soldiers.

"The Red Cross men arrived for their second visit to Compiègne on a moonlight night. Uncouth German aviators were flying low and their machine guns were beating a tattoo on the town while from time to time a bomb dropped. As one man said while his car sped through the moonlight, 'There was just a piece of canvas between men and hell.'

"A bomb had dropped on three army trucks standing close together. Their gasoline tanks exploded and a flame shot up through the clear night light. Compiègne was not a pleasant place that night. But the relief workers were stuck there in spite of machine guns and bombs. Finally they found the hotel which had been abandoned and taken over as emergency Red Cross headquarters.

"A Red Cross hospital at Amel, fifteen miles north of Compiègne had been evacuated, but the American doctors stuck to their posts which was most fortunate for them. The Red Cross had a fine supply of material which was transported back to Compiègne not only for the soldiers passing through but also for the emergency center at the station which the Daily unit, a unit of hospital aides affiliated with the Red Cross, had established at that point.

"So the line drew back from Beauvais to Soissons and with the field organization establishing itself solidly and calmly. Fine work is being done at Beauvais and the movement of supplies is now fully organized. The refugees problem has only begun for the Red Cross, because that organization has the intention of following the great body of the refugees to their final destinations further south and continuing to help them.

GERMANY BEARING DOWN ON HOLLAND

London, May 22.—The prohibition of the sailings of all Dutch ships from Dutch ports, the Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says, he learns, is connected with a new move by the German Government to compel Holland to sign on Berlin's terms the long-pending economic agreement which Holland has declined to do owing to the onerous conditions imposed by Germany.

The German Government, accordingly, has refused a safe conduct to Dutch shipping through the war zone, and seized the steamship Mekrex, which Holland chartered to fetch a cargo of wood from Sweden. The seizure was a direct challenge to Holland and, it is added, the prohibition of further sailings is the sequel.

AMERICA'S ANSWER

As richest realm beneath the skies,
As Freedom's champion as well,
Like a mighty giant, rise
From false security's deep spell:
The freedom of the world's at stake,
And in the menace I awake.

The loving peace, tho' unprepared
For war when war's alarm came;
No efforts shall be henceforth spared
To check the Tenton's drive of flame
Of rapine, murder, ruin—all
That would a universe enthral.

Allying with those nations which
So bravely, stubbornly withstand
The onslaught fierce, from ditch to ditch
In desperation, hand to hand,
I pledge myself with all my might
To aid them in this sacred fight!

To help supply their lack of food,
The most essential thing of all,
To dig and cultivate each root
Of earth, in answer to their call.
A thousand thousand acres more
Than has been planted heretofore.

And ships to carry it across
In building I will not be slow,
For many ships do suffer loss
From submarine of wily foe,
A hundred ships for every one
That falls a prey to "sub" of Hun!

And treasure shall be freely given,
Because our cause is just and right;
Until Autocracy is driven
From power, we will keep up the fight
America, let critics know,
Will pit her all against the foe.

PRESENTED HIM WITH MONEY, WATCH AND SERVICE KIT

Railroad Men Remember
Their Associate Called to Colors.

The several employees of the Boston and Maine shops and roundhouse on Wednesday afternoon were responsible for the pleasant surprise and several gifts bestowed on one of their associates, Henry Wallingford, a machinist connected with the motive power department. Mr. Wallingford has been called to colors and leaves on May 29 for Fort Slocum. His fellow workmen decided that some token should be carried by the man they held in high esteem and presented him with the following: Wrist watch, purse of money and a complete service kit. The presentation was made by Foreman William J. Shuttleworth who voiced the sentiments of the workmen in the following well chosen words:

"As you are to set out on the Great Adventure 'Over there,' we, your fellow workmen and associates, desiring to recognize and appreciate the fact that we all are honored by 'one of us' doing his bit in this Great World War, have decided that our appreciation shall be expressed by these tokens of good will and remembrance, and in behalf of your associates. It is my honor and pleasure to present the same to you. One and all, we wish you God Speed, Good Luck and a Safe return."

MORRISSEY—QUIRK

Local Young Man Soon to Go
Into U. S. Service Takes Bride.

A pretty wedding occurred at the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning, the contracting parties being Miss Ellen Agnes Quirk, daughter of Mrs. Johanna and the late Edmund Quirk, and William P. Morrissey also of this city.

The marriage occurred at 7.30 o'clock the ceremony being impressively performed by Rev. D. Alexander Sullivan, P. R., in the presence of many relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bride wore a gown of navy blue combined with georgette crepe, and hat of white leghorn trimmed with blue georgette and cluster of flowers.

Miss Mary Quirk, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor and was attired in gray satin with trimmings of georgette of like shade. Her hat was of white leghorn with trimmings of pink crepe and flowers.

The best man was Edward Quirk, a cousin of the bride.

At the conclusion of the nuptial rites an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Dover street and a wedding repast of cold meats, salads, olives, hot rolls, assorted cake, ice cream and coffee served.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey left later for a wedding trip to Boston and New York and upon their return will reside on Dover street in this city.

The gift of the bride to the groom was a gold scarf pin with diamond setting and to the maid of honor a gold bracelet. The bride received a gold pendant from the groom and he presented the best man with a gold scarf pin.

Both bride and groom are well and favorably known. The bride has held a position in the electric department at the navy yard and the groom was formerly employed in the Portsmouth Brewery Bottling Company, but is to leave soon to go into the U. S. service, having been called in the draft.

The best wishes of their many friends attend the couple.
